The summer always seems to fly by even in a pandemic, and it's hard to believe we are already at "Back-to-School" season. What school will look like is still undecided for many, but one thing we know is that for people living in poverty, school supplies are a luxury they simply can't afford.

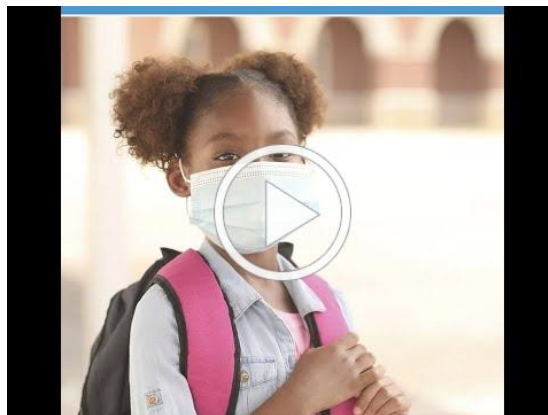

While we're typically hosting large, in-person backpack assemblies that now can't happen, we can still ensure that children start the school year off with the supplies they need to succeed.

Supplies for Success will deliver pre-assembled backpacks filled with school supplies directly to our non-profit partners for the start of the new school year. We're including supplies for virtual learning and more art supplies than usual to keep kids busy and learning when homebound.

For every $25 donated, we can help one child. Please help as many children as you can.

Thank you! Your generosity has allowed us to do this important work.

Stay Corona cautious and be well,
Mindy, Jill and our amazing team of volunteers
